Introduction.

In placing this work before the Chipman Family of America I need only say that all items of importance have been verified by original records or authentic copies of the same. At the same time I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the very copious genealogical manuscript of the late Rev. Richard Manning Chipman (1280), from which much valuable data has been taken, particularly regarding the fourth generation; also to the notes of the late Lewis Chipman (1322), and to those who have kindly given aid and encouragement.

A. L. C.

Origin.

THE NAME CHIPMAN is of English origin, early existing in various forms such as,— Chipenham, Chippenham, Chiepmán and Chipnam. The name is to be found quite frequently in the books prepared by the Record Commission appointed by the British Parliament, and from 1085 to 1350 it usually appears with the prefix de, as,— de Chippenham.

Several towns in England bear the name in one of its forms, for instance:

Chippenham, Buckingham Co., twenty-two miles from London, is “a Liberty in the Parish and Hundred of Burnham, forming a part of the ancient demesnes of the crown and said to be the site of a palace of the Mercian kings.”

Chippenham, Cambridge Co., sixty-one miles from London, is “a Parish in the Hundred of Staplehou, a discharged Vicarage in the Archdeaconry of Suffolk and Diocese of Norwich.”

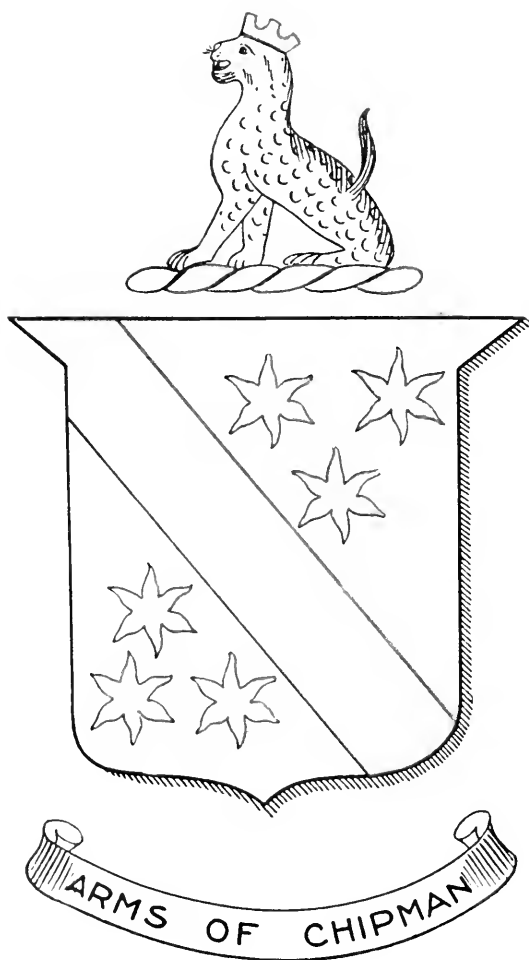

Chippenham, Wilts Co., ninety-three miles from London, is “a Borough, Market-town and Parish in the Hundred of Chippenham and a place of great antiquity. In the time of King Alfred it was one of the finest towns in the kingdom.”

The earliest public mention of the name, which we find, is of Willielmus de Chippenham who was chairman of the commissioners in the Hundred of Staplehou, Cambridge County, England, and who by the order of William the Conqueror took an inventory of the extensive estates possessed by the Monastery of Ely in 1085. The original record of that survey is preserved among the Cottonian Manuscripts and is marked "Tiberius A. VI."

From 1085 to 1567 the name appears in the books prepared by the Record Commission and other works equally authentic.

The Chipman lineage in America is traced from at least four of the passengers from England to America in the Mayflower. John Howland and his wife Elizabeth Tillie (parents of Hope, first wife of John Chipman) having, along with her parents John and Elizabeth Tillie, come to America in that brave little company. And a little further down the line, Priscilla, wife of Seth Chipman (18) and daughter of Maj. John Bradford, was descended from Gov. Bradford and her mother was Mercy Warren whose ancestor also came to America in the Mayflower. So that branch of the Chipman family descended from Seth Chipman (18) can trace their descent from six if not eight of the Mayflower passengers,

The Chipman Arms.

THE Chipman Arms have in their coloring and otherwise enough appearance of antiquity to render it quite certain that the picture was made in England.

The arms are described as follows,—“Ar. a bend betw. six estoiles gu. Crest—a leopard sejant ar. murally crowned;” or less technically,—“Upon a white shield or escutcheon a red shoulder belt between six red stars. Seated above the shield a white leopard, on his head a red mural crown.” This description is given by Messrs. Burke as pertaining to the Chipmans once residing in Bristol, England.

Messrs. Burke say,—“The crest or cognizance served to distinguish the combatants in battle or tournament;” and M. Pory says,—“A mural crown was conferred on him who first, at an assault, mounted the walls of a besieged town and there set up a standard.” So then, the Chipman to whom was originally awarded this coat of arms was a soldier approved and rewarded for his valor.

The Genealogy.

Thomas Chipman was born, probably in Whitechurch, near Dorchester, England about 1567; died about 1623. He owned property in Whitechurch which yielded him an income of £50 per annum. In 1775, Thomas Chipman of Salisbury, Conn., caused inquiries to be made by Silas Dean or Benj. Franklin, colonial agents in England, in regard to the estate, and ascertained that it lay as above described and that the rental was worth £500. He was prevented from prosecuting his claim by the breaking out of the Revolution and its consequences.

Thomas Chipman married, about 1590, ——— who died about 1637. We find mention of but three children,—

1. John.

Hannor (Hannah?)

Tumsum (Thomasine?)

First Generation.

1. John Chipman was born, probably at Bryans-Piddle, near Dorchester, England, about 1614; died April 7, 1708. Always brotherless and early left fatherless, he sailed from Barnstable, Devon County, England, in May 1631, in the ship Friendship, arriving in Boston, July 14, 1631. John Chipman was the first and only one of the name to seek a home in America, and up to 1850 there was no Chipman in this country who was not descended from him.

On March 2, 1642 he brought a suit against his cousin, John Derby, to recover money which he affirmed the said John Derby unjustly withheld from him. How this suit resulted does not appear. John Chipman was for successive years a selectman, then in Plymouth Colony invested with the authority of a magistrate, and was often a "Deputy to Court"; and he with three assistants was designated to frequent the early Quaker meetings and "endeavor to reduce them from the errors of their wayes." He became on June 30, 1653, as his wife had become Aug. 7, 1650, a member of the church at Barnstable, Mass., and its records state that, "Henry Cobb and John Chipman were chosen and ordained to be ruling elders of this same church and were solemnly invested with office upon ye 14th day of April, A. D. 1670."

In 1646 John Chipman married Hope, second daughter of John and Elizabeth (Tillie) Howland, born in Plymouth, Mass., 1629; died 1683. There stands, or lately stood, in the ancient burial ground on Lothrop Hill in Barnstable, Mass., a headstone denoting where was "interred ye body of Mrs. Hope Chipman, wife of Elder John Chipman." In 1684 he married Ruth, youngest daughter of William Sargent, born in Charlestown, Mass., Oct. 25, 1642; died in Sandwich, Mass., Oct. 4, 1713. She had previously married Jonathan Winslow of Marshfield, and after his decease she had married, in July 1677, Rev. Richard Bourne who died in 1682.

The will of John Chipman, dated Nov. 12, 1702, proved May 17, 1708, mentions his "wife Ruth," the children named below and his "grandchildren Mary Gale and Jabez Dimock, and his friend Mr. (Rev.) Jonathan Russell of Barnstable."

His children were all by his first marriage and except a son and daughter who died in infancy, all survived him, as follows,—

Second Generation.

2. Samuel Chipman, first son of John Chipman (1) was born in Barnstable, Mass., April 15, 1661; died in 1723. He resided in Barnstable, was often employed in its local affairs and was esteemed by its citizens. He built, on the paternal homestead near the Custom House the "Chipman Tavern" which continued in the line of his posterity until 1830. He became a member of the church Aug. 16, 1691 and, as the records state, was ordained a deacon Sept. 1, 1706. Said to have been a carpenter, he was by record a "yoeman and an innholder."

On Dec. 27, 1686 he married Sarah, twelfth child of Ru. Elder Henry Cobb and his wife Sarah, of Barnstable, born March 10, 1663; died Jan. 8, 1743. Samuel Chipman's will dated Aug. 31, 1722, proved June 17, 1723, mentions his wife and the children named below.

3. Hon. John Chipman, second son of John Chipman (1), was born in Barnstable, Mass., March 3, 1670; died Jan. 4, 1756. In Massachusetts he was a magistrate, a member of the General Court, a justice of the Court of Common Pleas, 1722. In Rhode Island, where he lived after 1727, he was first of the six Associates of that colony and with the other Associates, the Governor and Philip Cortland and Daniel Horsemanden of the New York Council, was a member of the Commissioners of Review appointed by royal authority, who met at Norwich, Conn., and pronounced a decision in regard to Connecticut's course toward the Indians.

He married, first, Mary, a daughter of Capt. Stephen Skiff of Sandwich, born Nov. 13, 1671; died Mar. 12, 1711; second, Elizabeth, widow of ——— Russell and previously of ——— Pope and daughter of Thos. Handley, died Jan. 29, 1725; third Hannah Hoxie of Rhode Island who died Feb. 21, 1747.

Ten children by first wife, two by second,—

Third Generation.

12. Thomas Chipman, oldest son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born in Barnstable, Mass., Nov. 17, 1687; baptised Aug. 30, 1691; died Aug. 5, 1752. He lived in Stonington, Conn., and Dec. 27, 1714 became a resident of Groton, Conn. In the latter place he was chosen tavern-keeper, March 17, 1715; a lister and rate-maker, Dec. 29, 1716. He bought land of Robert Burrows and of Joseph Page, executor of Jos. Saxton of Stonington, by deed recorded June 3, 1716, a part or all of which land he conveyed to his father June 3, 1717. He was one of the early members of the church in Groton. He removed to Salisbury in 1741, settling near Lamb's Iron Works, and was the proprietor of a saw and grist mill there. His name preceeded by that of the pastor-elect appears with nine others as a founder of the Salisbury Congregational Church, organized in 1744. He was the treasurer and a selectman of Salisbury in 1744 and the Justice of the Peace first commissioned there. On the organization of Litchfield County, 1751, he was appointed the first Associate Judge of the County Court.

He married at Stonington, Conn., April 26, 1711, Abigail Lothrop, probably either the daughter, born April 23, 1689, of John and Mary (Cobb) Lothrop, or the daughter, born Aug. 10, 1693, of Samuel and Hannah (Crocker) Lothrop, both of which were of the posterity of Rev. John Lothrop.

Ten children,—

34. Thomas,	born	June 4, 1712
35. Abigail,		Dec. 9, 1714; d. inf.
36. Abigail,		June 27, 1716

41. John,		about 1726
42. Amos,		" 1727
43. Jonathan,		Oct. 24, 1729

13. Samuel Chipman, second son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born Aug. 6, 1689; died 1753. He lived in Barnstable, Mass., successor to his father's estate, business and offices. His times and himself are illustrated, not only by his wearing garments the buttons on which were dollars and smaller coins, but by such exponents of wealth and position as a "negro boy" sold to him in 1728 by the executors of the estate of a late neighbor, and an "Indian Squa" assigned to him in 1749 to serve him "Three Years and Four Months" because she had stolen from him "On the Lords day the ninth of July Currant and On last Lords day Six Quarts of Rhum of Value Thirteen Shillings and Four Pence." Having joined the church about 1720 he was chosen deacon Aug. 19, 1725.

He married, first, Dec. 8, 1715, Abiah, daughter of John Hinkley Jr., born March 24, 1696; died July 15, 1736; second, May 31, 1739 Mary, widow of —Green.

Samuel Chipman had by his first marriage six sons and two daughters, one son by the latter,—

44. A son	born	d. inf.
45. Hannah		July 1, 1719
46. Samuel		Nov. 25, 1721

	m. 1749, Samuel Jenkins.
51. Nathaniel		Jan. 31, 1732
52. Joseph		May 26, 1740

14. Rev. John Chipman, third son of Samuel Chipman (2), was born in Barnstable, Feb. 16, 1691; died March 23, 1775. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1711 and was ordained, Dec. 28, 1715, as pastor of the First Church in the precinct of Salem and Beverly now North Beverly, Mass. The Essex Gazette, Vol. II. No. 59, contains an article which furnishes an illustration of Mr. Chipman and his parishioners and the general spirit that pervaded New England at that time, 1769. In compliance with Mr. Chipman's request the church ordained Rev. Enos Hitchcock pastor-associate, May 1, 1771.

John Chipman showed his love for christian doctrine and his vigilant care to maintain its purity in a work which he and Rev. Samuel Wigglesworth published in 1746. The Essex Gazette, Vol. VII. from March 28, to April 4, 1775 contains an obituary notice of him which is a glowing tribute to his memory.

His will is dated July 4, 1769, proved April 4, 1775.

He married, first, Feb. 12, 1719, Rebecca, daughter of Robert Hale, born Nov. 19, 1701; died July 4, 1751; second, Nov. 20, 1751, Hannah, daughter of Joseph Warren of Roxbury, born March 31, 1707; died June 24, 1769.

Fifteen children, all by first marriage,—

17. Jacob Chipmān, fifth son of Samuel Chipman (2) was born in Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 30, 1695; died 1741. About all that is known of the life of Jacob Chipman is gleaned from his will which is dated at Halifax, Mass. Sept. 17, 1740. From this it is learned that he was about to join an expedition, against the Spaniards in the West Indies, which sailed from Massachusetts in October 1740. This expedition, under Commodore Vernon consisted of a large English fleet with 15000 sailors and 12000 land forces. The colonies contributed 3,600 and of these Massachusetts furnished five companies out of which only fifty men returned. It was a disastrous expedition; the yellow fever broke out among the sailors and soldiers and hundreds died daily. Jacob Chipman's will was probated at Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 2, 1741, which shows that he lost his life in the Spanish expedition. The will mentions his wife Bethiah, two daughters by his first wife and one son and seven daughters by the second wife.

Jacob Chipman married first, Oct. 25, 1721, Abigail Fuller; second, 1725, Bethiah Thomas.

127. Nathaniel Chipman LL. D., second son of Samuel Chipman (38), was born in Salisbury, Conn., Nov. 27, 1752; died Feb. 15, 1843. He was graduated from Yale College in 1777 and on April 4th of the same year was made Second Lieutenant in the company commanded by Capt. David Parsons. He was in the Camp at Valley Forge, 1777-8, and at the battle of Monmouth, N. J., June 1778. Admitted to the Bar in Litchfield County, Conn., in March 1779, after only about 5 months study, he began the practice of law the following month at Tinmouth, then the shire town of Rutland County, Vermont, and at once became prominent. In October 1789 he was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont and continued in that office until Oct. 1791 when he was appointed Judge of the U. S. Supreme Court for the district of Vermont. He was a representative to the State Legislature 1784, 1785, 1805-10 and States Attorney for Rutland 1781-4. In 1793 he published a work entitled, "Sketches of the Principles of Government" and a small volume entitled, "Reports and Dissertations." Soon after this he resigned the office of District Judge and returned to his practice at the bar, in which he continued until 1796 when he was again elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. In 1797 he was elected U. S. Senator for a term of six years beginning March 4, 1798. In 1816 he was appointed professor of law in Middlebury College and in 1833 he published a work entitled, "Principles of Government." Through his correspondence and influence with Alexander Hamilton, 1778, the way was prepared for the settlement of a long controversy, regarding territory, between Vermont and New York. He was through life a profound student of Hebrew, Latin and Greek. A "Life of Nathaniel Chipman," by his brother Daniel Chipman LL.D., was published in 1846.

On Sept. 13, 1781 he married Sarah Hill of Tinmouth, Vt., born March 20, 1762.

129. Darius Chipman, fourth son of Samuel Chipman (38), was born in Salisbury, Conn., Aug. 17, 1756; died March 22, 1832. A soldier in the War of the Revolution, he participated in the taking of Fort Ticonderoga, in the battle of Bennington and other engagements. He afterwards studied law and practiced at Rutland and Tinmouth, Vt. "He seldom, if ever, counselled a litigation which in the trial did not succeed. Under his advice many suits were compromised. Such was his known repugnance to a bad cause that if he appeared in a case or one was started by his advisement, this fact was to a jury prima facie evidence of its justice. When once embarked in a cause his energy was untiring." He held many public offices in Vermont and about 1814 moved to Middlebury, N. Y. where he died.

He married first, 1782 Lydia, daughter of Dr. Dickinson; second, 1802. Hannah, daughter of Capt. William Mead of West Rutland, Vt., and widow of Silas Smith; third, 1823, — widow of — Lincoln of Bethany, N. Y.

Jonathan Sewall, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Mass. Ward Chipman and Daniel Leonard with fifteen other names appear upon "The Loyal Address" to Gov. Gage on his departure from Boston in 1775, as "of those Gentlemen who were driven from their Habitations in the country to Boston." Mr. Chipman went with the British to Halifax, N. S., and thence to England, being "obliged to abandon his native land on the evacuation of Boston in 1776. Having repaired to England, the Royal bounty bestowed on him a pension in common with a long list of his suffering fellow-countrymen; but a state of inaction being ill-suited to his ardent mind, in less than a year he relinquished his pension and rejoined the King's troops at New York where he was employed in the Military Department and in the practice of the Court of Admiralty until the peace of 1783. On the first erection of this province (New Brunswick), he was appointed Solicitor General, and continually afterward bore a conspicuous and most useful part in its affairs as an Advocate at the Bar, a Member of his Majesty's Council, a member of the House of Assembly, a Judge of the Supreme Court, and Agent on the part of his Majesty before several Commissioners for settling disputed points of boundary with the United States, until he closed his mortal career while administering the Government of the Province as President and Commander in Chief during a vacancy in the office of Lieut. Governor." The inscription on his monument at St. John, N. B., adds to the above quoted statements the following,—"Distinguished during the whole of his varied and active life for his superior abilities and unweariable zeal, for genuine integrity and singular humanity and benevolence, his loss was universally deplored; and this frail tribute from his nearest connexions affords but a feeble expression of the affectionate respect with which they cherished the memory of his virtues."

He studied law with his father and was admitted to the bar at Rutland, Vt., in Nov. 1806. Having spent the next year in Jamaica, W. I., he then spent a year in the office of Hon. Charles C. Pinckney of Charleston, S. C. He resided, practicing law, in Waterboro, S. C., 1808-24. Having a disgust for slavery which his wife, though a planter's daughter, shared they moved in 1824 to Detroit, Mich. In company with a distinguished journalist of the time he at first edited and published one of the earliest newspapers in the territory, "The Michigan Herald." In 1825 and 1840-3 he was Chief Justice of Wayne Co. Court; and 1827-32 he was one of the U. S. Judges for Michigan Territory. In 1841 and years following he was Judge of the District Court. In 1844 he was one of the vice-presidents of the convention held at Baltimore which nominated Henry Clay for President. He continued his professional pursuits until near the close of his life, and did well his allotted work. His knowledge of law, dignity of character, and good sense thoroughly qualified him for the responsible positions which he held. As a judge he was upright and irreproachable. He and his wife were members of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

He married, May 12, 1812, Martha Mary, daughter of John Logan.

372. Edwin Chipman, third son of Hon. Nathaniel Chipman (127), was born in Rutland, Vt., July 27, 1792; died Jan. 1840. He lived in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. Going to South Carolina in 1815 he studied law with his oldest brother, was admitted to the bar and practiced law for a time in partnership with his brother. Relinquishing his profession and engaging in the erection of mills near Walterboro, Ala., he became involved in debts which he could not pay. Then, in 1822, he suddenly disappeared and nothing was known of him by his kindred for sixteen years. In 1838, in a letter to his father, he made known the facts as follows. He left Walterboro without even one cent of money, taking only his wearing apparel and his horse and saddle. He rode seventy-five miles in twenty-four hours and stopping in Barnwell District, S. C., worked at the blacksmith's trade one year. For the next three years he worked at that trade in Hamburg, S. C., and Augusta, Ga. He taught school in Barnwell District one year and in that year married. Soon after that he moved to Montgomery County, Ala., and began to amass some wealth which was expended by illness in his family. He then began to trade in Coosa County, Ala., but was recalled to command the Montgomery Regiment against the Creek Indians. Then he became contractor for construction of a railroad between West Point and Montgomery, Ala. The letter closes with these words: "When I left Colleton District in South Carolina I adopted the name of Edward Cullen and am known by no other name in Alabama. The object of adopting that name and working at the blacksmith's trade was to prevent the possibility of discovery.  It has always been my intention, as soon as I could acquire the means, to pay off all demands against me, to resume the name of Edwin Chipman by legislative enactment, which would be necessary to legalize my land titles."

His death was caused by the recoil of levers used in boring an artesian well. Edwin Chipman (Cullen) married, 1826, Sarah Thompson of Barnwell District, S. C.
